Small Dog Rescue opposes pound seizure, the practice of releasing impounded animals from public animal shelters to biomedical research laboratories or other related facilities. This practice destroys the public's trust in shelters and rescue organizations because the public often cannot make the distinction between public impounds and private shelters or rescue organizations and it is inhumane, to boot.

Therefore, Small Dog Rescue supports a ban on pound seizure in Minnesota, one of only two states in the country to still have a mandatory pound seizure law.
